

Advanced Medical Integration Group, L.P.

Press Release

Advanced Medical Integration Group, L.P. (AMI), located in Highland Park Illinois, announces the retirement of their long time National Chiropractic Medical Director Dr. John Galbreath. Dr. Galbreath has served as AMI's Chiropractic Medical Director since November 2007. Dr. Galbreath was instrumental in developing key components of AMI's chiropractic medical management product. He is a well-known leader in the chiropractic community and in his capacity as Chiropractic Medical Director was charged with educating providers in outcomes based care as a foundation of AMI's quality care initiatives. Dr. Galbreath is respected by both his peers and the payor community and will be missed.

Additionally, AMI is pleased to announce and welcome Dr. Ronald J. Farabaugh, AMI's first National Physical Medicine Director, to the AMI Medical Management team. Dr. Farabaugh's responsibilities will include:

- Interfacing with AMI's holistic nurse care managers in AMI's Integrative Chronic Pain Program
- Heading up our various quality initiatives to educate the chiropractic provider community, with an emphasis on evidenced-based protocols and outcomes assessments.
- Overseeing the physical therapy program components within AMI's medical management.

Dr. Farabaugh brings a wealth of experience gleaned from 34 years in private practice as well as holding numerous political and academic positions within the chiropractic community. Highlights of his medical management experience, as it relates to managed care, include his experience as Chairman of the Council on Chiropractic Guidelines and Practice Parameters (CCGPP) and his election to the Council on Chiropractic Education (CCE), as a Councilor-Category 2, representing clinicians.

Aside from his new responsibilities with AMI, Dr. Farabaugh will continue to practice part time in his private practice in Columbus Ohio.
